Listen and Learn

Ten short lessons, each built the same way: one Greek word, one verse in its real context, one theological payoff, one guardrail against the bad word study you've probably already heard, and a short audio devotional so the lesson can ride along with your day. None of them requires a desk. All of them end in worship.

Audio Lessons

John 1:1 · guardrail-checked

Logos: The Word Who Was With God

λόγος

LOGOS · WORD / MESSAGE / SELF-EXPRESSION

John's prologue uses logos to show that the Son is not a vague spiritual idea, but the eternal Word who is with God, is God, and became flesh.

Guardrail: Do not make logos mean every possible idea at once. Let John's context define the payoff.

Ephesians 2:8 · guardrail-checked

Chariti: Grace In The Front Seat

χάριτι

CHARITI · BY GRACE

Paul puts grace at the front of salvation so nobody mistakes rescue in Christ for religious performance.

Guardrail: Grace is not God grading on a curve. It is God's generous action in Christ.

Romans 3:24 · guardrail-checked

Dikaioumenoi: Declared Righteous By Gift

δικαιούμενοι

DIKAIOUMENOI · BEING JUSTIFIED / DECLARED RIGHTEOUS

Justification is God's gracious verdict in Christ, not self-improvement with religious language around it.

Guardrail: Justification does not pretend sin never happened; it rests on redemption in Christ.

Matthew 6:11 · guardrail-checked

Epiouision: Bread For Today

Ἐπιούσιον

EPIOUSION · DAILY / NEEDED FOR THE COMING DAY

The rare word behind daily bread teaches humble dependence on the Father for what sustains us today.

Guardrail: Do not build a whole doctrine on the mystery of one rare word. Anchor it in the Lord's Prayer.

1 John 4:10 · guardrail-checked

Hilasmon: Love Defined By The Cross

Ἰλασμόν

HILASMON · ATONING SACRIFICE / PROPITIATION

John defines love by God's action in sending the Son as the atoning sacrifice for our sins.

Guardrail: Do not flatten atonement into sentiment. John ties love to sin actually being dealt with.

John 19:30 · guardrail-checked

Tetelestai: Finished Means Finished

ΤΕΤΕΛΕΣΤΑΙ

TETELESTAI · IT HAS BEEN FINISHED

Jesus' cry from the cross announces completed work with continuing significance for everyone who trusts him.

Guardrail: Do not detach the word from John's passion narrative. The context is obedience, sacrifice, and fulfillment.

Romans 8:15 · guardrail-checked

Huiothesias: The Spirit Of Adoption

υἰοθεσίας

HUIOTHESIAS · ADOPTION AS SONS / CHILDREN

The Spirit brings believers into the family cry of Abba, Father, not merely into tolerated religious status.

Guardrail: Adoption is not a sentimental add-on. In Romans 8 it belongs with inheritance, suffering, and glory.

Philippians 2:7 · guardrail-checked

Ekenosen: The Humility Of The Son

ἔκένωσεν

EKENOSEN · HE EMPTIED HIMSELF

Paul explains Christ's self-emptying by his taking the form of a servant and humbling himself in obedience.

Guardrail: Do not use this word to imply that the Son stopped being God. Let Paul's own explanation govern the meaning.

2 Timothy 3:16 · guardrail-checked

Theopneustos: Scripture Breathed Out By God

θεόπνευστος

THEOPNEUSTOS · GOD-BREATHED

Scripture is not merely reflection about God; Paul says it is God-breathed and useful for forming faithful people.

Guardrail: God-breathed is not permission to use the Bible carelessly. Paul ties Scripture to teaching, correction, and training.

Matthew 16:18 · guardrail-checked

Ekklesian: Christ Builds His Church

Ἐκκλησίαν

EKKLESIAN · ASSEMBLY / CHURCH

Jesus names the church as his own and promises that he himself will build it.

Guardrail: Do not preach only from a root-word slogan like called-out ones. The sentence matters: Christ builds his church.

Lesson Posters: One Word, One Page

Every lesson as a printable poster: the Greek word, the plain meaning, the guardrail, and the worship payoff on a single page. Print the one you're studying this week and put it where your coffee lives.

Want the whole library on one sheet? Download the reference table: every word, verse, gloss, theme, and guardrail as a spreadsheet.

Lesson Knowledge Checks

A short quiz for every lesson: five plain-English questions on the word, the verse, the guardrail, and the payoff. Take it right after you listen, while the lesson is still warm. Pass all ten and the vocabulary of the New Testament has genuinely started living in you.

Three Ways to Build the Habit

The commute

One lesson is shorter than your drive. Press play when you pull out, and let the word sit with you at every red light. By the time you park, ask yourself one question: what did this verse say about God? You'll walk in carrying something better than the morning's headlines.

The morning table

Coffee, open Bible, phone face-up only for the audio. Read the verse first, then listen, then read the verse again. It'll sound different the second time. Two minutes of silence after. This is the 6 a.m. version of going deeper, and it fits before anyone else wakes up.

The small group

Play one lesson aloud at the start of group. They're short enough that nobody checks their phone. Then ask: "What's the guardrail here, and why does it matter?" You'll get a better discussion from one careful word than from a chapter skimmed in the parking lot.

After You Listen

The lesson does its deepest work in the five minutes after the audio ends. Keep a notebook with the kit and answer these three prompts. One line each is enough:

1. What did this word show me about God that I might have read past before? Be specific. Name the verse, not just the feeling.
2. What am I careful not to claim? Writing the guardrail in your own words is how it becomes yours.
3. What do I want to say back to God? One honest sentence. Then say it. That's the whole point of the word, the verse, and the audio.
